

Training English Teachers in Education Technology

Pisith Jittisukpong

Abstract

This article focuses on teacher training in education technology. It lays out the problems experienced in the past and makes suggestions and ideas as to where and how educational establishments should make further development.